

KITTILIND ACTS AS A DETECTIVE

Traps Man Who Posed as Playwright Cousin.

WARRANT HAS BEEN ISSUED.

"RAG TIME COMEDY CO." STUCK
AT ST. JAMES.

A Dozen Pretty St. Louis Girls Waited for an Early Call to Go to Kansas City to Play
"Camille."

C. A. Hoyt, who represented that he was a cousin of the late Charles H. Hoyt, the playwright, is charged with having defrauded an even dozen of pretty St. Louis girls who had theatrical aspirations. The warrant, alleging larceny, was issued Tuesday at the instance of Miss Kitty Aylesworth, who adopted the name of Kittilind when she decided to leave her home at 1720 Mississippi avenue and gain renown on the boards as a soprano. Miss Aylesworth demonstrated her ability as a detective, and if she proves as apt in her chosen profession there is no question that she will eventually overcome all obstacles and make a success on the stage. Nov. 25 an advertisement appeared in a St. Louis newspaper asking for chorus girls. Miss Aylesworth had appeared in amateur entertainments, and had on several occasions filled brief vaudeville engagements. But she wanted an engagement in opera and decided that the chorus was better than nothing. Eleven other girls were caught by the seductive advertisement. They called on Mr. Hoyt at Chatsworth Hall, Seventeenth and Olive streets, and alluring invitations were offered them. Each was engaged. Each was required to deposit $15 for costumes, and each completed the necessary details.

The name of the organization was the "Rag Time Comedy Co." Despite this name Mr. Hoyt decided to play "Camille," and he was given for just one week at Chatsworth Hall. Not all of the girls were to appear in the cast, but they were kept as accessories. On Dec. 1 all of the girls were instructed to report at the St. James Hotel with their baggage. The company was to open in Kansas City in a few days and Manager Hoyt wished to have his company in readiness to depart on a moment's notice. Didn't Make the Early Start. For two days the girls were ready to go. Then the word was given to arise early the next morning for the start. When morning came Mr. Hoyt was gone. The girls were anxious to depart too, but the hotel management insisted on settlement of the board bill. They had no money and the trunks remained there until the bill was paid in full. Last Saturday Miss Aylesworth saw another advertisement. It bore the name of "Camille," and she decided to try again. She wrote and was told she must submit her photograph and make an appointment. She suspected that Hoyt was merely anxious to avoid former victims and she took a friend into her confidence. She borrowed her friend's photograph. Miss Aylesworth is petite and brunette. Her friend is tall and blond. Mr. Hoyt sent his address, 222 Market street, and made an appointment. Miss Aylesworth repaired to the address and says Hoyt's name was on the door. Then, on Tuesday morning, she repaired to the Four Courts and told her case to Prosecuting Attorney Johnson, who issued a warrant against Mr. Hoyt. Miss Aylesworth, Tuesday morning, with Hoyt is for 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. She will keep the appointment. Detective McNeil will be her escort. Mr. Hoyt is seen to be escorted to the Four Courts and unless he furnishes bond he will languish in one of the basins until his court passes on his case.

DWYER NOT PROSECUTED.

Nolle Prosequi in Case Against Deputy Sheriff.

Thomas Dwyer, the deputy sheriff who was indicted by the December grand jury on the charge of having admitted an unauthorized person into the jury room while the petit jury was considering the "Bad Jack" Williams case, appeared for trial in the court of criminal correction Tuesday morning. The case was nolle prossed by Prosecuting Attorney Henry A. Clover. Mr. Clover stated when he entered the nolle prosequi that he believed that the defendant had been sufficiently punished by Judge Ferris, when the official fined Dwyer $25 on the charge of contempt of court. Mr. Clover also stated that he believed that the December grand jury was actuated by undue feeling when the indictment was returned against Dwyer, who was suspended.

NOT RESULT OF A FEUD.

Maj. Washburn's Injuries Caused by a Fall.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 25.—Maj. C. E. Washburn, Republican member of the Kansas City Board of Election Commissioners, was found unconscious in an alley in West Ninth street this morning suffering from wounds on the face and head. He has been the center of a political faction fight, having only last week been restored to the office of election commissioner by a decision of the State Supreme Court, and some of his friends profess to Court, and his friends at first thought he was assaulted by a political enemy. At noon the attending physician stated that his patient's wounds were not serious, and that he would be able to be out in a day or two. On recovering consciousness, Maj. Washburn stated that his injuries were caused by a fall.

CUPID BOUND BY ST. LOUIS RECORDS

Father Searched Files so
Daughter Could Wed.

GIRL IS IN SWITZERLAND.

COULD NOT MARRY UNTIL THREE CERTIFICATES WERE FOUND.

Date of Parent's Birth, His Marriage and Wife's Death Were Obtained After Days of Faithful Quest.

As a necessary preliminary to the wedding of his only daughter in far-off Switzerland, Dominick Schmidt of 1234 Old Manchester road is engaged in securing certified copies of the records of his marriage, the birth of his daughter and the death of his wife. He found the last two records after a search through the dusty volumes of the health department at the old City Hall, but he is experiencing difficulty in securing the proper certificate of his marriage record. The license clerks in the recorder's office found that there was no record on file there of the ceremony. But Mr. Schmidt remembered that the ceremony was performed by Justice Louis A. Raum, since deceased, and he hunted up the Justice's daughter-in-law, Mary Baum. Through her he located the old records of her father's court. They showed that Dominick Schmidt was married by Justice Raum April 4, 1881, to Mary E. Howemann. Mrs. Baum made affidavit before Notary Truesdale to this effect. This document was filed in the recorder's office and Tuesday Clerk Filley issued to Mr. Schmidt a certified copy of this record. Now it remains for Mr. Schmidt to present these documents to the local Swiss consul, and if he attests their genuineness, and if he attests their genuineness, the laws of Switzerland as soon as the documents arrive in Zurich, the town in the little European republic where his daughter's fiancé, Ludwig Stoecklenus, resides. Dominick Schmidt was born in Venezuela, where his father had emigrated from Germany. He came to St. Louis, however, in his youth. His sister remained there and married a wealthy chocolate manufacturer named Fulle. Three children were born to Dominick Schmidt and he named his daughter Letitia after Mrs. Fulle. When Letitia was 8 years old her mother died. When she was 12 her father agreed to send her to England to study music and languages. She attended a conservatory at Kent, England. After she had spent two years there, Mrs. Fulle went from her home in Caracas to London and joined her niece. She took her to a fashionable French school at Nice. In London Miss Schmidt met Mr. Stoecklenus. He is a member of a wealthy German family and is a wholesale merchant at Schuler, a town near Bern. The wedding had been set for March and Mr. Stoecklenus wrote his prospective father-in-law, Dominick Schmidt, to procure the necessary documents at once.

HENNIG FOUND GUILTY

Acquitted of Assault to Kill in Shooting Sgt. Henry Meyer of Central District.

A. R. Hennig, a saloonkeeper, 409 Easton avenue, was acquitted in Judge Ryan's court Tuesday morning on the charge of assault to kill. Sgt. Henry Meyer of the Central district was the prosecuting witness. It was alleged that Hennig shot at the sergeant on Sept. 12 last. After Hennig was arrested, Hennig caused a warrant to be issued against Meyer for assault and battery. The case is still pending in the court of criminal correction. That court would not pass on the case until the assault to kill case was disposed of in the criminal court. Sgt. Meyer was fined $25 in the Court of Criminal Correction for making an illegal arrest. His wife is the prosecuting witness on that occasion. The doctor was arrested in a street for protesting against the policeman blocking the way of passengers who wished to enter and leave the car.

REJECTED SUITOR'S STARTLING CRIME

Kills School Teacher in Presence of Pupils.

THEN SHOT HIMSELF TWICE.

BULLETS FAILED TO KILL, AND HE SPRANG INTO A WELL.

A Country School Near the Town of Carmago, Ill., the Scene of the Tragedy Which Has Startled the Community.

DECATUR, Ill., Feb. 25.—Fletcher Barnett, school teacher, today entered the schoolhouse one mile from Carmago and without warning shot and instantly killed Miss Eva Wiseman, the teacher in charge. He then shot at Bert Hopewell, a pupil who attempted to interfere, but missed him. The shooting caused a panic among the pupils, nearly all of whom ran screaming from the room. Barnett, after making sure that Miss Wiseman was dead, fired one shot at himself and left the house. The first bullet did not take fatal effect, and, standing in the schoolyard, he fired at himself a second time. This shot did not prove fatal, and throwing away his revolver, the crazed young man leaped into the school house and was drowned. The cause of the tragedy was the fact that Miss Barnett had been a suitor for Miss Wiseman's hand and had been rejected. For some weeks he had brooded over his misfortune and become moody and dependent. His friends think that he had become crazed over his rejection.

HUSBAND NEED NOT PAY DEBT TO WIFE

HEAD OF NEW FAMILY IS EX-EMPT FROM OLD.

COURT OF APPEALS SO FINDS.

John Maag Married His First Wife, and Second Wife Garnished His Salary in Vain.

A wife cannot collect a debt from her husband through the courts. A married man, the head of a family, is not compelled by law to support the child of a union that has been legally dissolved if he prove the exemptions allowed by statute.

These are the findings of the court of appeals Tuesday in the case of Mary Maag against Milton F. Williams, garnishee of John Maag. Maag was first married in 1896 and a son born of the union. He was divorced and in 1900 married the plaintiff, Mary Maag. They had one child, a daughter. In December, 1900, this Mrs. Maag obtained a divorce, and $25 per month alimony.

Last year Maag remarried his first wife and is at present supporting her and the child by her former union. Mrs. Mary Maag claims Maag failed to pay her the alimony and contributed nothing to the support of the child. Maag claimed he owed his employer, Williams, the money and could not pay the amount prescribed by court. Mrs. Maag obtained judgment against the garnishee of her former husband's wages and he appealed. Her attorneys claimed that as Maag had remarried he was the head of a family and was under the law exempt from garnishment.

The court of appeals ruled Tuesday that a debt to a wife is not answerable at law and that the obligation to the child imposed by the court is an ordinary debt and the debtor is entitled to all the exemptions under the law.

POSTOFFICE NOT TO DECORATE

Both Money and Legal Authority for Draping in the Prince's Honor
Are Lacking.

Beyond the possible displaying of a large flag, the federal building will not be decorated on the occasion of Prince Henry's visit to St. Louis.

Surveyor of the Port Charles F. Gallenkamp, who by virtue of his office is custodian of the building, has looked up the law in relation to decorating of public buildings and finds not only that no expenditure for decorations or drapery is permitted, but that the law forbids such drapery or decorating.

When President McKinley died last September, the building was decorated by subscriptions from employees in the different offices, and the law was technically violated. In the case of Prince Henry, the law is not so strict. The law will not be stretched in the case of Prince Henry, and the gray walls will be unadorned by anything at the prince's passage on Olive street.

JUDGE HENDERSON AWARDED $65,000

Supreme Court Orders Payment of Back Salary.

POSITION HELD A FEE OFFICE.

SERVED ON PROBATE BENCH
THREE YEARS WITHOUT PAY.

Probate Judge Henderson of St. Louis has just received a message to the effect that the Supreme Court of Missouri has declared the law making his office a salaried one instead of an office whose incumbent is paid by fees is unconstitutional, and that his suit against the city for unpaid fees amounting to about $65,000, therefore, has been won.

Judge Henderson has held the office three years without accepting a cent of pay. Because the state legislature had passed the law making it a salaried office at $500 a year he declined to accept such pay as that would afford. The clerk of the court declined to allow him his fees, such as former judges had received. Accordingly Judge Henderson sued the city and William Koenig, his court clerk, to compel them to pay the fees. In fees the office is worth about $30,000 a year.

BANKING HOUSE REPUTATION

Daniel Sullivan Assesses It at $225,000
in Suing the Strahan-Hutton-
Evans Commission Co.

For the third time the Circuit Court is hearing the suit for $225,000 damages brought by Daniel Sullivan against the Strahan-Hutton-Evans Commission Co. Sullivan is the head of the banking house of D. Sullivan and Co. of San Antonio, Tex. He alleges that on July 3, 1898, the defendants wrote to J. M. Chittenden advising him against dealing with the Sullivan house and declaring that it was the belief of the commission company that Sullivan was resorting to unbusinesslike methods in a transaction in which Mr. Chittenden was financially interested.

Mr. Sullivan claims his business and social standing have been damaged to the extent of $225,000. The suit was filed Feb. 11, 1898. At the first trial, April 18, 1897, a nonsuit was ordered. The case was appealed and the supreme court set aside the nonsuit. The second hearing, on Oct. 2, 1899, resulted in a mistrial.

A special jury is hearing the evidence in Judge Zachritz's division.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—In a dazzling gain and in the presence of a brilliant assemblage, amidst cheering, music of bands and the roar of cannon, the German Emperor's new schooner-yacht Meteor was launched from Shooters' Island today. Unlike the weather, the arrangements were perfect and no untoward incident marred the occasion. The President, Mrs. and Miss Roosevelt, Prince Henry and the distinguished party accompanying them were enthusiastically cheered on arriving at the platform built just back of the bow of the Meteor. Without delay, after greetings had been exchanged, Miss Roosevelt stepped forward and taking in her hand a silver-covered bottle containing German champagne, broke it on the side of the vessel. Immediately she seized a silver ax and severed the rope which released the weights holding the Meteor. The vessel went gracefully into the water with the American flag breaking out at the tail. American and German bands played and cannon fired from the scores of craft constituting an enthusiastic cheering. Miss Roosevelt wore a dress of sapphire blue velvet, a large black hat trimmed with ostrich feathers and a fur muff and boa. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt were accompanied by the President's party. The boat bearing the President and Prince Henry had time to spare on the run down to Shooters' Island and it was decided to swing around the special aqueduct at anchor off Staten Island. The squadron fired 21 guns and manned sides in honor of the President. The flagship Illinois and the Cincinnati fired first, and then the German and San Francisco offered their tribute of powder. President Roosevelt and Prince Henry were photographed together and then took a brisk walk together through the cabin of the ferryboat. The party proceeded directly from the ferryboat to the stand which had been erected at the in-shore end of the ways on which the Meteor rested. The President and Prince, with Mrs. and Miss Roosevelt, arrived on the platform at 10:22. The prince conducted Miss Roosevelt to the small platform immediately under the bow of the boat. On this platform at the time of the launching were President Roosevelt, Prince Henry, Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Roosevelt, the Mayor of New York and Ambassador von Holleben. While waiting the prince and Miss Roosevelt chatted. The entire assemblage, taking its cue from the prince and the President's daughter, was in merry mood. Christening of the Meteor. Exactly at 10:30 Miss Roosevelt broke the champagne bottle with vigorous and effective hand, saying: "In the name of the German Emperor I christen thee Meteor." Guns roared, bands played and the great cheering lasted for several minutes. The prince handed a bouquet to Miss Roosevelt and then, raising his hat, in a few words acknowledged the cheering of this on the main platform. The launch occurred without any mishap. The President's daughter lifted a silver hatchet and struck the rope. It parted clearly and down came the weights. The wedges flew up and out. The yacht trembled, started forward and then slid slowly down into the water to the cheers of the distinguished gathering. She took the water safely and brought up in the middle of the Kill von Kull without accident. Prince Henry and Miss Roosevelt were then photographed. The prince then presented Miss Roosevelt with a silver cap ribbon of the new yacht Meteor and she wore it on her left arm as she stood before the cameras with the prince. Prince Toasts the President. Soon after the launching the presidential party and the prince proceeded to the hall, where a luncheon had been prepared. The health of the prince was drunk and then Prince Henry said: "On this occasion I wish to call for three hearty cheers for the President of the United States, Mr. Roosevelt, hip, hip, hooray." As the prince spoke the prince waved his arms as a signal and the building shook with responding cheers. Then President Roosevelt raised his right hand and when there was silence, said: "I ask three cheers for the guest who has already won our hearts, Henry of Prussia. Now, a good one." President Roosevelt's "hip, hip, hooray" was drowned in the "ah, ah, ah" of applause that greeted the call for cheers. Then the prince and President shook hands warmly, and as the party started to leave the hall, some one among the invited guests said: "Mr. President, I offer three cheers for the young lady who has had the honor of launching the Meteor." The cheers were given. The presidential party and the prince and his suite did not remain for the luncheon. About 11:15 the party left Shooters' Island for New York. Soon after the yacht had reached the water the prince wrote a cablegram to the Emperor, informing him that the Meteor had been successfully launched. The cablegram was in German, a translation being as follows: Cablegram to the Kaiser. "To the German Emperor, Berlin: 'Yacht just launched under brilliant auspices. Christened by Miss Roosevelt's hand. Beautiful craft. Great enthusiasm. I congratulate you with all my heart.' HEINRICH."

With the President and Mrs. Roosevelt were the following: Secretary Root, Mrs. Root, Miss Root, Secretary Hitchcock, Major-General Henry C. Corbin, Mrs. Corbin, Rear-Admiral Evans, Miss Evans, Senator Lodge, Senator Spooner, Congressman Litauer, Admiral Bowles, Commander Wm. Cowles, Mrs. Cowles, Assistant Secretary of State Hill, Col. Theodore Bingham, Mrs. Bingham, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Boyd and Wm. Loeb, Jr., assistant secretary to the President.

Prince Henry was accompanied by his whole suite and with Ambassador von Holleben was the staff of the embassy. Consul-General Duens of New York was also present.

PRESIDENT'S DINNER TO PRINCE HENRY. WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The dinner to Prince Henry, given at the White House by President Roosevelt was an elaborate affair. Shortly before the clock struck 8 Prince Henry arrived with Admiral Evans of the United States navy, in an open carriage. As they left the embassy a large crowd had given them a warm greeting, and they were escorted a highly reception by the large number of people who had assembled around the porte cochere of the White House. The prince repaired to the red room of the White House, where the guests assembled.

The dinner was set for 8 o'clock, and when that hour struck the guests passed through the blue room, where the preparations were made, and thence to the east room. President Roosevelt, the prince and the table, with Prince Henry on his right, on his left was Lord Pauncefote, the British ambassador. On the right of Prince Henry was Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, while to the left of Lord Pauncefote was the Mexican ambassador. Opposite to the President sat Secretary Hay, while to his right was Dr. von Holleben, the German ambassador, and to the left the French ambassador. To the left of the German ambassador was the Italian ambassador, and to the left of the French ambassador was the Spanish ambassador. The President proposed the health of the German Emperor and the German people, saying: "We admire their great past and great present, and we wish them all the success in the future. May the bonds of friendship between the two peoples ever grow stronger with the years." The President also proposed the health of our guest, Prince Henry of Prussia, in these words: "In the name of the people, I greet you and extend you our warmest welcome and the assurance of our heartfelt good will."

The name of Senator Martin of Virginia was originally on the list of those given out as guests at the dinner, but he declined the invitation. Following the toast of the President to the German Emperor, Prince Henry arose and addressing himself to the President, proposed a toast to himself and the people of the United States, accompanying it with an expression of good-will and hope for the continuation of friendly relations between the German and American nations. Then followed Mr. Roosevelt's toast to Prince Henry.

Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Roosevelt were not present at any portion of the evening's festivities, the company being confined to gentlemen. Just before the dinner there was brought to the White House a large open carriage, which was taken to the private portion of the house. It is supposed this was a present from the prince to the President.

After the dinner the guests repaired to the parlors, where for an hour or more they remained in social conversation. The prince chatted freely with the company, many of whom he had met during the day. At 10:40 the party dispersed, the prince leaving directly for the railroad station. A troop of cavalry and a squadron of mounted and bicyclists saw him safely aboard the train, which left at midnight for New York City.

"I can recommend Paine's Celery Compound to every one. It has been my health preserver during the last few years. Few women, even though much younger than I, enjoy as good health, for my appetite is natural, my sleep refreshing, and I can walk quite a distance without feeling tired. People are surprised at my vigorous appearance and activity, which I believe is the result of my using Paine's Celery Compound. It is a great help to me, and I hope every old person will use it and be saved sickness and suffering."

Nothing has ever approached Paine's Celery Compound in its power of building up weakened nerve tissues and giving strength to the tired body. In severe cases of persistent headaches, dyspepsia, neuralgia and sleeplessness, due to nervous feebleness, Paine's Celery Compound has a record of rapid and lasting cures, that embrace every city and town in the wide sweep of the United States.

LAWMAKERS FIGHTING MOOD

Tillman-McLaurin Precedent Twice Followed Monday.

WELLINGTON CALLED M'COMAS

IN HOUSE GOLDFOGLE AND WEEKS "EXCHANGED AMENITIES."

Punishment of Belligerent South Carolina Senators Not Yet Determined, but Expulsion Will Not Be Meted Out.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Pugnacious weather is the only way to account for the belligerent mood that has seized upon senators and representatives. Today's debate on the Tillman-McLaurin feud is expected to amuse the Senate as never before.

It seems to be the general opinion that Tillman must, either as a preliminary to any settlement of the case, prove his charge that McLaurin sold his vote on the peace treaty for the federal patronage of South Carolina, or withdraw it.

Although his offense of striking McLaurin while the Senate was in session was serious enough to warrant his expulsion, it is now thought unlikely that this will be his punishment.

A two-thirds vote is necessary to expel a senator and as the Democrats have come to generally to Tillman's defense and, of course, to McLaurin's too, it would be impossible to pass a resolution of expulsion.

It seems quite unlikely, therefore, that this severe penalty for their conduct on Saturday will be meted out.

The war of words Monday afternoon between Wellington and McComas, in which the former passed the lie to the latter, was a feeble imitation of the Tillman-McLaurin row of Saturday and was soon forgotten.

In the debate thus far Senator Bailey of Texas has won all the honors. He is having an easy time with Turner of Washington, who represented Tillman.

Bailey proved a more formidable opponent to Aldrich, however, and even when Hoar, Lister Hale, Foraker and others came to Aldrich's assistance, Bailey held his ground well, but his case was weak, and, at last, he fell too.

The Senate simply decided, under the terms of the unanimous agreement arranged for the disposition of the Philippines tariff bill, no debate on any other subject is in order.

Bailey's point was that the Senate has not the right to deprive South Carolina of the vote of its senator by contempt proceedings or otherwise.

The position is represented by the proposition of Senator Bailey, backed by Senator Foraker, that the Senate has the same right to deprive a senator of his vote while under contempt of that body as it has of the peace of the state to send him from voting.

PUNISHMENT NOT DETERMINED. This is the constitutional question that the Senate will be called upon to decide as the first step in the settlement of the Tillman-McLaurin episode.

This, of course, is entirely apart from the question that must be passed upon by the committee on privileges and elections, to whom the Senate on Saturday referred the case of the South Carolina senators charged with violating the rules of the Senate.

What punishment, if any, shall be meted out to them has not been determined, and will not be until after thorough investigation of all the facts bearing upon the quarrel.

Senator Hanna says Mr. Tillman has repeatedly assailed the living and the dead and should be punished to the extent of his life. He feels bitter at the denunciation of the Republicans individually and as a party, and he is determined to fight them to the death.

Both engaged in a heated argument and had started towards each other, when Representative Weeks intervened and broke up the fight.

While the Senate was trying with these momentous questions Representative Goldfogle of New York and Representative Weeks of Michigan enjoyed an excellent opportunity of amusements.

Representative Weeks is an earnest adherent of the payment of a million dollars for half a million dollars, while Mr. Goldfogle denounced the claim as a swindle.

Men of Affairs

One may sail the seas and visit every land and everywhere will find, that men of affairs, who are well informed, have neither the time nor the inclination, whether on pleasure bent or business, to use those medicines which cause excessive purgation and then leave the internal organs in a constipated condition.

Syrup of Figs is not built on those lines. It acts naturally, acts effectively, cleanses, sweetens and strengthens the internal organs and leaves them in a healthy condition.

If in need of a laxative remedy the most excellent is Syrup of Figs, but when anything more than a laxative is required the safe and scientific plan is to consult a competent physician and not to resort to those medicines which claim to cure all manner of diseases.

The California Fig Syrup Co. was the first to manufacture a laxative remedy which would give satisfaction to all; a laxative which physicians could sanction and one friend recommend to another; so that today its sales probably exceed all other laxatives combined. In some places considerable quantities of old-time cathartics and modern imitations are still sold, but with the general diffusion of knowledge, as to the best medicinal agent, Syrup of Figs has come into general use with the well-informed, because it is a remedy of known value and ever beneficial action.

The quality of Syrup of Figs is due not only to the excellent combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants, known to set most beneficially on the system, with agreeable and refreshing aromatic liquids, but also to the original method of manufacture. In order to get the genuine and its beneficial effects one should always note the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package.

CLEARING YARDS FOR RAILWAY CARS

BUSINESS IS FACILITATED

OUTGOING CARS ARE CLASSIFIED AND DISTRIBUTED THERE, SAVING MUCH TIME IN MAKING TRAINS.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—A great distributing yard where all the freight cars entering Chicago can be classified for their outgoing journeys and which will serve the same purpose in the world of traffic that the clearing house does in the world of finance, is the latest innovation in railroad circles in the West.

A system has been perfected by A. W. Swantz of the Chicago Union Transfer & Railway Co. whereby the difficulties of the present plan of transferring freight cars from one road to another have been overcome by centralizing the work in one immense clearing yard. Under this arrangement it is claimed 800 cars can be switched and handled in a single day, and this is an important factor to the heads of railroad companies, who have been brought to realize the time consumed and delays resulting from the classification and starting of outgoing freight.

Ten thousand cars of freight are handled in Chicago every day, and of this number 10 per cent are loaded with through freight to be cleared for the city and sent out on the city and West line. The yard is 15 miles of track in order to be hauled over to the city and West line.

The new system contemplates the doing away with all these delays and inconveniences by having the cars classified and sent out on the city and West line.

The yard occupies a rectangular piece of ground 60 feet in width and 12,000 feet in length. The general arrangement of the yard, as described in the Scientific American, is as follows:

"We drove over to his place and I found footprints leading to and away from the cellar. The yard was there were the tracks of a wagon, and I noticed that the track of one of the wheels was narrower than the others and that the wheel had a flat tire. I followed the wheel tracks and they led me straight to the door of the Kings' house in North Anderson.

"I followed the wheel tracks and they led me straight to the door of the Kings' house in North Anderson. I found out from the neighbors that two or three times a week they would come and look after their property on the Fourth.

"On the Fifth, along toward morning, as I was standing at the side of the street, outside of one of the buildings, I contained two large crates, and Mr. and Mrs. King's next morning I was away from the city.

"Several nights people would report that they had been robbed, but I could not catch the Kings at work. I could not catch the Kings at work. I could not catch the Kings at work.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for MARCH.

However artistic and literary a magazine may be, it fails of success if it is not both in its stories and special articles entertaining and readable. Judged by this standard of "interestingness," as well as from the artistic point of view, the March number of Harper's Magazine, just on sale at your newsdealer's, is an ideal one.

Fiction, science, literature, art, nature, travel, research and humor make up this big book of 165 pages. There are 8 short stories in the number. Notable among these is "His Apparition," by W. D. Howells, with pictures by W. T. Smedley. Mark Twain contributes "The Californian's Tale," a complete story, and there is a delightful little story called "Graudmother," by Roy Rolfe Gilson, a writer who is going to be famous. Some day you will be glad to remember that you read his first work. Alice Barber Stephens has illustrated the story. Two other stories, both unusual and both uncommonly well done, are "The Question," by Grace Denio Litchfield, and "The Love Letters of Falstaff," by James Branch Cabell. Arthur Colton has written another of his fantastic tales, "The Story of King Julius," and Marie Van Vorst a clever little comedy of situation entitled "A Monstrous Mood."

The leading serious article of the number is "The Lineage of the English Bible," illustrated from rare old portraits of translators and reproductions of early texts. Richard Le Gallienne writes of "Our Tree-top Library," and Miss Elizabeth Shippen Green has made delightful pictures in tint to go with this dainty sketch. Joseph Fitzgerald discusses "Anarchism in Language," that is, the misuse of ordinary words, and Agnes Repplier writes of "The Point of View in Fiction." Other articles of interest are "Korea and Her Emperor," "The Romance of the Kohinoor," and "Invisible Beauty."

There are more of Edwin Abbey's charming drawings and many pages of pictures in color and tint. There are 25 separate contributions in the number.

MADE 14,000 MILES WITHOUT A PILOT

CAPT. AHLSTROM'S RECORD WITH THE STEAMER METEOR.

FROM LAKES TO THE PACIFIC

Vessel Made Only Two Stops After Leaving Baltimore, Both Being for Repairs.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Capt. Fred Ahlstrom has just returned from San Francisco and Seattle, having performed a feat that was never attempted by any other fresh water navigator.

He took the steel steamer Meteor from the lakes down the St. Lawrence to the Atlantic and around the Horn to the Pacific without a pilot.

Capt. Ahlstrom made his first trip to the Atlantic Ocean from the great lakes in the steamer Eureka, which he left at Philadelphia. He returned to the lakes. Afterward he took a course of instruction with Capt. Howard Patterson. While on the coast he took out "unlimited papers," which means that he can sail any ship to any part of the world.

Capt. Ahlstrom brought out the steamer Meteor, which was built at the yard of the Craig Shipbuilding Co., at Cleveland, to a firm in the Pacific Coast trade. Capt. Ahlstrom brought the ship from Toledo down through the lakes to the coast, and Baltimore he loaded 2800 tons of blacksmith coal for San Francisco. With the cargo the ship sailed for San Francisco.

On the trip from Baltimore to San Francisco she only made two stops. Her steering gear became disabled and she put into Rio Janeiro for repairs. The other stop was made at San Pedro de Macoris, half way through the Straits of Magellan.

Nearly all the regular traders take a hot through the straits at a cost of $200 to $300. In the vicinity of the straits Capt. Ahlstrom, who was his own pilot, sighted a number of wrecked vessels.

When the Meteor arrived at San Francisco she had a freight load of $750,000. The steamer was delayed in getting unloaded at San Francisco on account of the dock workers' strike. After her coal cargo was discharged the Meteor loaded cement for Seattle. When Capt. Ahlstrom left her, the climate did not agree with the captain and he decided to return to the lakes and the St. Lawrence river.

The Meteor loaded package freight at Seattle for Honolulu. On the trip from Baltimore to San Francisco the Meteor carried a crew of 29 men and they were paid $4000 in wages for the 90 days' voyage.

A banana peel carelessly thrown upon a Broadway sidewalk caused painful injuries to Mrs. Oliver L. Garrison, a prominent society woman of 608 Westminster place. Mrs. Garrison stepped from her car at 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon to enter one of the large shops. She slipped on the peel and fell, striking the stone pavement with great force.

Several of the small bones in her left foot were broken and she received bruises about the head.

Mrs. Garrison was picked up by pedestrians and placed in her carriage.

WILL TEST FACTORY LAW. Manufacturers Refuse to Allow City Deputies to Make Inspections.

To test the reality of the city factory inspection ordinance, Louis Mueller of the Rapp & Mueller Carriage Co. and James M. Houston of the Houston Grocer Co. have refused to allow Deputy Inspectors Joseph K. Kelly to enter their places of business. Police court summonses have been issued against the two firms and the case will be argued before Judge Stanton.

"YE OF LITTLE FAITH."

"Let Me Make the Next Cup For You."

I may be the victim of a fad; if so, it is a healthful one. I may be the dupe of fancy, if so, it is a pleasant one. I have always rather disdained fads and disliked figments of the imagination, but there are a few facts I can make affidavit to.

From early childhood, I have used coffee. The fact was, no doubt hereditary, coming from a long line of coffee loving ancestors who bequeathed me a complex to match.

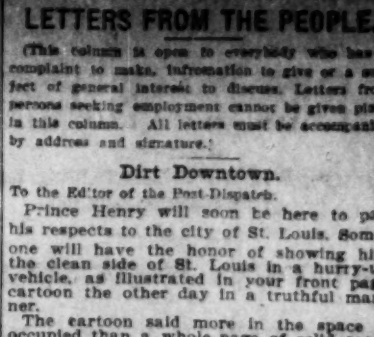

When others spoke of the injurious effect of coffee, I smiled in a lofty sort of way and took an extra cup, and when a friend who is an excellent judge of the good things of this world, left off coffee and tried Postum, I regarded her as the victim of a fad and told her so.</

Senator Wellington evidently envies Senator Tillman his dishonors.

Proceedings in the Senate subsequent to the Tillman-McLaurin fight prove that evil example is catching.

Several organizations have spoken out in support of the fight against bootleggers and bribery, but as yet no organization has been formed to push the fight to a finish.

The great cloud of witnesses summoned to the grand jury room gives ground for hope that there will be corresponding results. All the rascals should be exposed and punished.

In recalling the invitation to Senator Tillman, did not the President indicate a modification of his views on the strenuous life? The South Carolina senator certainly gave an exhibition of strenuous pitched high.

A GOOD FIRST IMPRESSION.

The first impression of Prince Henry is good. He puts on no airs, but is simple in manners, cordial and tactful. He is not a sprig of court royalty, but has been trained in a severe school to the duties and responsibilities of a naval officer.

This manly and practical quality in our royal guest simplifies the question of his treatment. He is capable of understanding the hospitality and the greetings of plain men not accustomed to the etiquette of courts.

The Prince has reason to feel gratified with his reception and the preparations for his entertainment. There is no lack of cordiality in the greeting of the American people. His mission promises the greatest possible success and he can take back to the Emperor and the German people a report that will assure them of the friendly sentiments of the American people.

It is a good thing for two great peoples to have their attention turned towards each other in a friendly and hospitable fashion. It tends to eradicate prejudices and to create a better understanding.

Whatever may be the need for new public buildings in other cities, the need of a larger postoffice in St. Louis is beyond question. Congress cannot in justice neglect the demand for better postal facilities here.

FIREPROOF BUILDINGS.

What is a fireproof building? The Park Avenue Hotel, New York, was conspicuously advertised as fireproof. The usual precautions against accident were ostentatiously neglected. There were no fire escapes, no hose, no appliances of any kind. They were unnecessary, "because the building was fireproof," said the proprietor.

That this pretense was adopted by the management in perfect good faith is apparent. While the armory opposite was blazing and threatening to leap across to the hotel, the manager gave no warning. When guests became uneasy he told them to go to bed because that hotel couldn't burn, and it was not until the flames were sweeping up the elevator shaft that he realized the awful truth.

Again, what is a fireproof building? Is it a building which is proof against fire or is it one which is especially exposed to such dangers?

The Park Avenue managers evidently thought the word fireproof meant fireproof. The event proved, in that case at least, it meant just the opposite. Should people seek fireproof buildings or avoid them?

In Massachusetts the babies of foreign born parents outnumber those of native born parents more than 50 per cent. Why should we worry over the deficit of babies in France?

"RULES OF THE ROAD."

An ordinance now pending in New York embodies new "rules of the road" for the city's streets, suggested by the conditions of modern city activities.

The ordinance limits the speed of non-passenger vehicles to five miles an hour; horse vehicles, eight miles; horseless vehicles, including surface cars and bicycles, ten miles. Turns and crossings are to be made at a speed of not more than three miles an hour. Right turns must be made close to the curb and left turns well around the center of the street. Intention to turn must be signified by raising the hand or whip.

These are good. Every modern city needs a revision of its road rules as it needs strict regulation of the operation of street cars.

Our Municipal Assembly may well combine with its street railway ordinances rules for the running of all vehicles on the streets.

The truth is the conditions of the streets of the modern great cities require an overhauling of all rules both for vehicles and personal conduct. We must adjust ourselves to these conditions and learn how to mingle huge trolley cars, motor vehicles, pedestrians and horses with a minimum of disaster. It can only be done by rules and training. Most city people are still in the municipal kindergarten and must learn how to live in a big city filled with new machines.

The people of the city need to be municipalized.

It is not necessary for the 19 dead of an "absolutely fireproof" New York hotel to come back to prove how little is meant by "fireproof buildings."

GIVE US GOOD FIGHTERS.

The United States Senate should at once take notice of Senator Mason's bill to create a Department of Physical Culture, with a cabinet member in charge. Names already suggested for this office are Secretary of Science, Commissioner of Culture and Minister of Muscle.

The disgraceful fight between Senators Tillman and McLaurin on the floor of the Senate last Saturday sharply accentuates the need of physical training in official life; and what is good for senators must be good for the citizens they represent.

The truthful and detailed account of this unprecedented affair, published by the Sunday Post-Dispatch, reveals the fact that both of these senators are painfully ignorant of the rules of scientific personal conduct. For example, we read: "Mr. Tillman aimed a wild blow at his colleague with his right fist. It landed on Mr. McLaurin's forehead, though his force was partially spent on his arm. Instantly McLaurin's right arm shot out, the blow landing on Tillman's face. Again Tillman struck out frantically, this time with his left hand. McLaurin was not touched. Then followed a wild scuffle, both senators clutching at each other madly. Just as Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms

Layton seized McLaurin, Tillman aimed a left-handed blow at his colleague, but only succeeded in striking Layton in the face. Layton tore them apart. Both senators were still striking wildly at each other, but most of the blows fell upon Layton.

What kind of fighting is this? Disgraceful! If our United States senators are to fight at all, let them fight like trained gladiators, not like a lot of newboys in an alley. Let them show the world that we are "good men" physically, instead of bringing opprobrium upon the name of all things American by such tactics as "clutching wildly" and striking outsiders. The country demands good fighters.

No jurisdiction was the ground of the decision of the United States Supreme Court in dismissing the suit of Gov. Van Sant against the Northern Pacific merger. But the suit of Attorney-General Knox may meet a different fate.

WHAT SHALL WE DO?

Mr. Spencer Eddy, First Secretary of the United States legation at Constantinople, makes the flat charge that the brigands abducted Miss Stone because she was an American and Americans are most likely to have money for ransom.

Moreover it was not a work of professional, but of political brigands.

"It is entirely a political matter," says Mr. Eddy, "and all the people in Macedonia are in sympathy with the kidnapping, for they believe it is a step towards freeing Macedonia from Turkish rule, the same as Bulgaria has been and the money they demanded was intended for the Macedonian cause."

In other words, the Macedonians, having no postmasters, collectors, gaugers and other civil servants of their own to assist in a campaign fund by assessing the missionaries. No American spokesman, not even "my dear Hubbell," could work the assessment scheme more profitably than these simple-minded savages, who love freedom so well that they even levy on the good missionaries for expenses.

But it must be remembered that Miss Stone is not only a missionary. She is an American citizen, and in her person the American nation has been grievously insulted. This is the gist of the question from an American political point of view. And the question is:

What are we going to do about it?

Continued victories and more surrenders are reported from the Philippines. There has never before been a war with so many victories and so many surrenders that was so long in coming to an end.

SPREADING RAILS.

A recent news dispatch told of the finishing of two enormous heavy locomotives, for use on Western roads. Shortly after a wreck on a Western road occurred, the cause being spreading rails. Many passengers were severely injured, and even the private car of the president of the road left the track.

These two items point to a growing danger in railroad travel. Every year rolling stock is being made heavier. Yet, with the exception of putting down heavier iron on some tracks, little or nothing is being done to prevent the spreading of the rails, which is a constant source of accident.

In the best constructed street railways today not only are the rails very heavy; they are set in specially made brackets, technically known as chairs. These are firmly bolted to the ties. The rails are further secured by cross rods, bolted, both inside the rail and outside. In addition to this, many of these tracks are made solid with concrete between the rails, and in all the downtown districts there is the further security of the pavement, consisting of heavy granite blocks or asphalt.

It is said that the steam railway companies will expend vast sums of money in improvement of roadbeds during the current year. It is to be hoped that they will do what may be necessary to make the accident caused by spreading rails a thing of the past.

If Tillman's accusation of McLaurin was untrue, McLaurin should have shown it to be so by a temperate and convincing reply. Such an answer would have made Tillman ridiculous and would have been a real solar plexus blow to the man with the pitchfork. Of all men, senators of the United States should set a good example to their countrymen.

If the wife of Prince Henry has called to her husband that the $300,000 to be expended on the dinner tendered him by New York millionaires would be a senseless and harmful waste of money, and that the amount would better be devoted to food for the destitute poor of the city, American opinion of German royalty will be considerably exalted.

"It is rather surprising to hear from Governor-General Taft that it would have been better for the United States if they had never acquired the Philippines," says a Kansas City Journal. And, indeed, it would be surprising if anyone with Gov. Taft's opportunities for observation had failed to perceive as palpable a truth.

Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Colorado, Minnesota, Ohio, North Dakota, New Jersey, New York, Montana, California, Arizona, Indiana, Idaho, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota and Wyoming, all making beet sugar. It is therefore quite possible that the little handmaiden of protection will be spanked and sent to bed.

One of the discourses in a St. Louis church last Sunday began by an expression of the hope that the grand jury investigating the charges of municipal corruption should not rest until it had completed its good work. Every pulpit in the city should attack the immoralities which the jury is trying to bring to light.

The President is represented as having reiterated his opinion that there is need of federal laws for the supervision of railways. With two so strenuous statesmen as the President of the United States and the Governor of Minnesota interested in railway reform, there is reason to hope for improvement.

The Bulgarian brigands say they captured an American missionary because they know that the Americans have a great deal of money. It seems that our property is so great that it is interfering with mission work.

While Webster Davis is lecturing in the United States on the Boer question, some English speaker might do well in Great Britain with a lecture on the Philippines.

The Philippines who have been pacified and are studying self-government as citizens of the United States will be greatly edified by the Tillman-McLaurin senatorial incident.

The wagon dog that keeps up a furious barking every hour in the day, in all parts of town, is charged no more license than the best behaved and most intelligent of its species.

There were 2,000,000 eggs on a single freight train in Kansas recently. People who have been paying 30 to 35 cents a dozen for eggs may feel a little skeptical as to these figures, but they are correct.

Prince Henry is a Knight of the Order of the Black Eagle, Knight of the Order of the Golden Fleece, Knight of the Order of the Annunciation, Knight of the Order of the Elephant, Knight of the Order of St. Andrew, but he will not have time to become a member of the B. P. Order of Elks.

A man may be called a liar a thousand times and the charge will be wholly untrue, yet he is expected to knock down, every time, the man who utters it. As the veracity of either cannot be proved by any kind of a fight, there is a great waste of strenuousness in legislative bodies at least the inadequateistic argument should never be resorted to.

A high school boy of Washington points to the defective grammar of President Roosevelt in the Schley memorandum. The President wrote, "It would have been unjust for him to have made," and "it would have been well to have given." When Mr. Roosevelt was at Harvard he must have given more attention to athletics than to grammar.

St. Louis Kraut.

From the Dominion (Mo.) Prospect News.

The Post-Dispatch has figured it out that if all the little cabbage cut up into kraut in St. Louis last year had been formed into one big cabbage, the height of the mammoth head would have been 50 miles.

Engelmann Botanical Society Suggests
Plan for Making Homes
Prettier.

At a meeting of the Engelmann Botanical Club at the High School Monday night the members of the civic improvement committee placed before the public their proposed course of work. Prof. Herman Schrenk of Washington University briefly stated the plan taken by the club to beautify the streets of St. Louis.

The plan of the committee is to distribute among the schools a small pamphlet telling what trees and shrubs will thrive best in St. Louis, when, where and how to plant them. In order to interest the children prizes will be given to the pupils making the greatest improvements around their homes. This prize will not be a cash prize, but a button or a badge.

Prof. von Schrenk believes that to interest the children in the sure way to success is to give them a plan of work. He says that in every heart there is a strong desire to create. If the children are interested in the plan of work, they will be in the habit of doing it. This is the plan of the committee to distribute among the schools a small pamphlet telling what trees and shrubs will thrive best in St. Louis, when, where and how to plant them. In order to interest the children prizes will be given to the pupils making the greatest improvements around their homes. This prize will not be a cash prize, but a button or a badge.

CLIMATIC DIFFICULTIES.

A few of the difficulties we have to contend with are the climatic influences. St. Louis is in a belt of windstorms. These storms break branches off the trees. This cannot be overcome, except by planting hardy trees, those not easily broken.

Second, the sycamores, soft maple, soft coal of the large manufacturing establishments, and the dust, which choke the pores of the leaves; the gas in the ground, caused by the defective gas pipes; the hard clay, with which St. Louis is underlain, is another drawback, but it can be overcome by enriching the soil.

Third, the destruction of the trees by small boys, by hitching horses to trees and other causes. There is an ordinance covering the lawlessness of children, and it should be enforced, but it is not the purpose of the club and members to enforce the law. They appeal to the pride of every individual citizen.

The kind of trees that do best in St. Louis are: First, the sycamore, soft maple, poplar, second, sweet-gum, ash and white birch. Elms will not do well in St. Louis. It is time and money wasted to plant them. The best time for planting is in November, the next best is in the early spring if the conditions are favorable. Trees should be planted 22 feet apart. The drainage should be good.

Prof. von Schrenk illustrated his talk by lantern slides, showing St. Louis with other cities. Also illustrations of the proper method of tree planting, pruning and staking and the proper method of draining.

PAVING CONSIDERED.

A general discussion was entered into by Prof. von Schrenk, Frederic N. Judson, H. C. Irish, Dr. Gladfield and others, relative to the remarks made by Prof. von Schrenk and as to the best paving. Prof. von Schrenk advocated the use of wood or brick paving. Preferably wood, as it would allow a greater amount of moisture and air to pass to the roots of the trees. It was thought feasible by some present, on account of the six to nine inches of impervious cement which forms a foundation to all paving.

Prof. von Schrenk said that during the past summer he had been employed by the United States government to make this a special study. From his observations in European cities, and other cities of the United States, he found that the cement would allow the passage of water, that it was not so impervious as the street engineer would believe.

The matter of having the sidewalk made next to the street and the strip of ground usually between the sidewalk and the street was discussed. This method was considered to be a good one, as it would give the tree ample space in which to spread its roots and placing it beyond the reach of the driver and his horse it would be in better condition. The water from the roof of the house would be absorbed in the space of ground around the tree and the street would be comparatively dry.

The tree committee hopes by the end of the summer to see some tangible evidence of its work and by the time of the World's Fair to have St. Louis a beautiful city.

The work of the tree committee will not extend east of Jefferson avenue, recognizing the undesirability of shade trees in the business part of the city.

The society will ask St. Louis ministers to set aside one Sunday each for aerobics upon the question of the city's beauty.

Every day and Sunday, too, "The Katy" leaves Union Station at 8:30 a. m. With through sleeper for City of Mexico.

PUSHING THE FAIR ALONG.

President Francis may leave Boomers to dine with Prince.

President Francis of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Co., has been invited to take dinner with Prince Henry and President Roosevelt, and so may not be able to attend the other Fair directors to Providence, R. I., where it is intended to lay before the legislature arguments in favor of large appropriation for the exhibition of Rhode Island's resources at St. Louis.

The delegation visits Trenton, Tenn., Tuesday. Thursday it will be entertained by the Boston municipality. President Francis will be able to reach Boston even though he accept the hospitality of the chief executive.

The Virginia legislature will be addressed Wednesday morning. Henry T. Kent, W. H. Hoxton, Dr. R. C. Atkinson, Seth W. Cobb, A. J. Stoffer and Senator Daniel will be the speakers.

Iowa is expected to spend $300,000 at the Fair. President Francis, Fred W. Lehmann, Judge Wilbur F. Boyle and William Martin Reedy will go to the Missouri March 4. The Kentucky legislature will require another small hunch, it is feared. Secretary Charles M. Hoover of the territorial committee will make the appeal at Lexington.

ST. LOUIS' RACING OUTLOOK.

Horses Are Arriving and Stables Are Being Engaged at Fair Grounds.

There are indications at the Fair Grounds that spring will be soon here. Over 100 race horses are already quartered there, and applications are being daily received by Secretary Hachmeister for more stables. The owners of Ethylene will be here in a few days.

Dr. Street is already here with a promise to include Stables Sambo and Fitzcarrald. J. E. Basquill, from the McAleer farm at Columbia, Mo., has a string of eight and H. R. Baker has a bunch of 12 all safely stabled. William Boardman has charge of four, including the well-known Soundly and Oudenarte.

Dr. Bernays says he has some crack 3-year-olds that will cause trouble this summer, and John McNeill, the father of Jockey Fred McNeill, has a pair of 3-year-olds. Dr. Burns, an American Derby candidate, is also quartered at the Fair Grounds and his owner, W. C. Christy, says he is in better shape than ever.

It is said that Rube Ross, summer ces on March 24, will be greatly strengthened by the presence of such horses as Peaceful and Maximus which were shipped to that point a few days ago.

The Bohlman string of nine is at Ferguson and is reported in good condition.

STRONG RALE IN WHEAT AND CORN

PORTION OF MONDAY'S LOSSES WIPED OUT.

LIQUIDATION APPARENTLY OVER

Speculative Offerings Were Light and Corn Gained Over One Cent, Carrying Wheat Up.

A portion of the losses suffered by wheat and corn Monday were wiped out Tuesday. When the market opened liquidation was resumed in wheat and corn and sold down to 80 1/2¢ and 80 1/4¢ below Monday's close. Speculators who had sold short Monday started to buy back. The wheat market almost held its own. The corn market was heavy, but the corn receipts were very light.

May wheat advanced to 82¢ and closed with a gain of 1/4¢ at 81 1/2¢. May corn at the close sold up to 80 1/2¢, 1 1/2¢ above Monday's close. According to the report of the United States department of agriculture, the wheat crop in the United States is estimated at 1,441,000,000 bushels, or 100,000,000 more than the world's supply. The wheat crop in the United States is estimated at 1,441,000,000 bushels, or 100,000,000 more than the world's supply.

The weather map showed a low pressure over the Gulf of Mexico and a high pressure over the North Atlantic. The weather was generally clear and warm.

The northwest wheat movement was heavy, but a heavy rain in the northwest prevented a larger movement. The wheat market was generally steady, with a slight advance in prices.
